BridgeOne Names Courtney Muehlmeier as General Partner for Texas's Premier Global Web, Audio and Hospitality Conference Provider

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Courtney Muehlmeier has been named General Partner for BridgeOne Global Solutions, a Texas based Web, Audio, and Hospitality Conferencing Consulting firm based in Austin. Muehlmeier is a fifteen-year veteran of the hospitality industry. Throughout his career, he has focused on the operations, sales, and marketing of hotels and resorts across the United States. As Regional Vice President of Sales and Marketing at Midway Hospitality Corporation he completed the reorganization of the operational, and sales structures while implementing a company wide best practices resulting in historic growth in sales and profits. During his five years with Global Hyatt, his talents were focused on the sales and marketing of the opening of new and repositioned resorts.

“Courtney brings a depth and true understanding of hotels and resorts running the gamut from limited service hotels to full service destination resorts,” said Brian Sbrocco, founder of BridgeOne Global. “All of our clients will profit from his expertise and relationships in the hospitality industry and his ability to match our customers to the right destination. All of us are excited to have Courtney on the team.”

“ BridgeOne is the perfect hand-in-glove scenario,” said Muehlmeier. “I feel this -- opportunity will finally combine both my experiences in sales and operations for the true benefit of our customers.”

BridgeOne Global Solutions combines the consulting expertise and procurement of the Hospitality, Web, and Audio Conferencing industries. For over 10 years, BridgeOne Global has helped people plan, manage, and maximize their meetings while creating increased savings through their professional and expertise of their associates
